ORGANIZED BY

China Center for Economic Research, Peking University
National School of Development, Peking University

ABOUT THE CONFERENCE

In the past four decades, China has become the second largest economy in the world. Understanding the development of Chinese economy, and especially its growing role in the world economy, has become a subject undergoing intense study for both academia and policy-making.

The National School of Development (NSD) at Peking University, formerly known as China Center for Economic Research (CCER), is a leading research and teaching institute for the study of social sciences in China. It has been recognized as one of the most prestigious research institutes and one of the most influential think tanks in China.

The National School of Development is committed to the internationalization, standardization, and localization of the study of social sciences topics in China. It places strong emphasis on cross-disciplinary research and rigorous research methodology. It actively seeks to collaborate and exchange ideas with scholars around the world regarding China-related research.

We sincerely invite scholars from all over the world to participate in the Fourth CCER Summer Institute, which will be held on June 22-24, 2019 in Taiwoo of Hebei Province. This Summer Institute will focus on topics related to Applied Microeconomics and Applied Macroeconomics.
