教授简介:

Jiayin Hu is an assistant professor of finance at the National School of Development at Peking University and is also affiliated with the Institute of Digital Finance at Peking University. Her research interests include fintech, banking and applied corporate finance. She currently works on modeling the impacts of big data technology and its systemic risk implications. Her broader research agenda asks how frictions in the financial system affects the transmission of monetary policy and how financial regulation should be designed to improve market efficiency.

Jiayin received her Ph.D. in Economics from Columbia University in May 2019. Prior to Columbia, she obtained her B.A. from the School of Economics and Management at Tsinghua University.

Jiayin teaches Intermediate Macroeconomics (undergraduate) and Advanced Macroeconomics (Ph.D. and master) at Peking University.
